London southend airport and Environs Joint area action plan (JAAP) submission document

1st I do object

2nd To indicate if it is felt that the document be legally compliant my response: This question must be aimed at legally trained people and not the masses as there is no way of knowing if this document is actually legally compliant and is unfair to request people to make unproven assessments of the unknown. In my opinion to get the truth from a consultation it needs to be balanced and not biased to either side which this consultation is clearly not. The whole consultation from day one was about area regeneration and this has now resulted to no more than an airport appraisal with a neat dashed red line .

3rd To indicate if it is felt that the document be sound

there is clearly information that is incorrect that you have asked me to believe , le documented or not even the simplest minded person would know the PSZ are at the end of runways, the documentation the council supplied is obviously incorrect so the document cannot be sound as it has obviously not be checked for soundness and I have not seen any wavers that state it was correct at time of print.

4th 6(1) To indicate if it is felt that the document be positively prepared on research I read that when preparing consultations you should use easy format to understand and everyday English, this document was obviously not prepared with this in mind and I am not the only person who thinks this please find enclosed evidence base S/Njaap01 to S/Njaap52 See attachment 3.

5th 6(2) To indicate if it is felt that the document be Justified

I re-alliterate that this document is biased toward what is wanted rather than any alternative as in my opinion they were never allowed to be explored due to a timely planning application for a runway extension being submitted to which now built the consultation request the secretary of state to sanction is he ever going to say I don't approve

6th ^3) To indicate if it is felt that the document be effective the real question here is is the airport deliverable as very little other than the airport is discussed within the consultation it is so plain to see how much energy has been poured into making this airport a pot of gold which in my opinion is dangerous as should the airport fail there has been little to nothing else been discussed so after 2-3 years of consultation we have still not got a workable action plan, and we have not even mentioned costings.

7th 6 (4)As this is not a statutory consultation then surely the framework is open to interpretation, I therefore find myself unable to comment on it.

APPLICATION UNDER CAP 168

LEGAL BASIS AND GROUNDS TO IMMEDIATELY SUSPEND UNDER CAP 168
PRECISION AND NON PRECISION RUNWAY 06 PROCEDURES SOUTHEND AIRPORT
(EGMC)

This Application is made legitimately because I have two material financial interests¹ in this matter but much much more importantly because I seek to protect human life of innocents. I have no doubt it shall annoy the CAA but my objective here is to save life and would invite the CAA to adopt the same agenda.

The CAA through three Departments this morning have wholly failed to comply with our reasonable request to detail which actual "form" to use to make said Application upon no doubt because it does not wish to receive such Application, because it shall ultimately no doubt cause the CAA to have to pay compensation to London Southend Airport Co Ltd. As such we make such Application upon the attached form under the Aviation Act 1982 and this document is entirely clear as to the nature and grounds of the Application.

Reason for the Application:

To save life

Background:

As the CAA well knows I was a Licenced Aviation Law Examiner for the CAA and am deemed by the UK High Court to be an "Aviation Expert". Others shall attempt to smear me to suit their agenda however, as the CAA are fully aware I was a highly qualified and experienced and licenced Pilot as well as a Flying Instructor for many years attaining the highest Instrument Instructors licence available to a Pilot - so I am qualified and familiar with Instrument Procedures - not only within the UK but also European and USA environments.

Sometimes as a human being of course I am wrong -- as such I invite the CAA with it's available Technical Data (however I have used much of your own data against you in my submissions) to prove to me if I am wrong in my assumptions if it can, and if indeed I am wrong in any area that I detail below - I would concede gracefully and humbly apologise. However if I am not wrong then I expect the CAA to act in the Public Interest and within the law and ultimately revoke the Instrument Procedures to Runway 06.

Recent Events:

There have been recent incidents where passengers of aircraft and persons on the ground have been frightened by Easyjet go-arounds on finals to runway 06 at Southend Airport in poor weather - which ultimately caused Pilots to make (thankfully) the brave decision to divert aircraft to Stansted. One day a pilot may just try a little too much and crash upon residents of Southend. There is immense commercial pressure upon Pilots to land at their intended destination. I have for some time sought to avoid such (before what I regard and is my professional opinion an inevitable accident at some point in the future) as the CAA is already very aware.

¹ Thus qualifying me as an Applicant

Legislative Framework

Under CAP 168 (Licencing of Aerodromes) Chapter 1 (1.4) the CAA has the power and in actual fact the responsibility to revoke, suspend or vary a licence. Frankly in this case it should have never granted the licence for the Procedures outlined Under clause 1.5 of Chapter 1 CAP 168 (and because I say the CAA must act urgently today to immediately suspend the use of the Procedures outlined below) (thus time is to be abridged) (what happens if a fatal accident happened tomorrow and the CAA has failed to act today ?

I have saved the CAA the trouble and with the email filing of this document with the Chair of the CAA, the Legal Department of the CAA as well as the Secretary of State for Transport, I have also served the Application upon the Operator of Southend Airport namely: London Southend Airport Co Ltd also by email. All Parties shall also be served by first class post.

The CAA is invited to act lawfully and immediately, to prevent risk to life from today. It is sought that the Aerodrome Licence of Southend Airport (EGMC) is immediately varied (or if such other instrument or permission exists) to revoke the part of the Aerodrome Licence that permits use of the Runway 06 NDB Procedure² (as identified by AIP published link below) or the ILS 06 Procedure (as identified by AIP published link below)

The Grounds of the requested variation of the Aerodrome Licence of Southend Airport

The Grounds to immediately temporarily suspend then revoke the above Procedures are:

- i) The Procedures by their use, create significant potential risk to human life of thousands of residents of Southend . That causes Article 2, 3 and 8 violations ECHR³ to all residents underneath or near the flight path. The CAA as a Public Body cannot cause to violate the ECHR and has no option but to comply with the ECHR at all times.
- ii) Furthermore, it is submitted that both Procedures significantly violate CAP 168 by way of obstacle interference, existence and puncturing of what should be Protected Airspace. The whole point of protected airspace in poor weather conditions is to reduce the possibility of fatal accidents. It is beyond credulity (and common sense) that the CAA has violated it's own CAP 168. The Procedures granted were always unlawfully granted by the CAA and as such must be revoked. I was personally promised by the CAA Barrister [REDACTED] – see Exhibit 1) on 13th July 2010 by email that the CAA would not violate CAP 168 in any licencing of the new runway or Procedure at Southend Airport. It then did utterly incredibly did so !.

The unlawful Procedures:

Both the Procedures identified to be immediately suspended, then ultimately revoked are detailed by way of the AIP publication for the Runway 06 (at Southend Airport) Non Precision and Precision Approaches, which can be viewed at:

² Classed as and defined as "Procedures"

³ European Convention of Human Rights

and

The "offending" Obstacles.

As clearly indicated there are multiple obstacles detailed at the "EGMC AD 2.10 — AERODROME OBSTACLES" section of AIP Published document:

http://www.ead.eurocontrol.int/eadbasic/pamslight-F51BD0753A33F206AE6EB82577C92F80/7FE5OZZF3FXUS/EN/AIP/AD/EG_AD_2_EGMC_en_2012-06-28.pdf

Some (but not all) of the identified Obstacles are believed to violate (i.e puncture – which means that an aircraft is more likely to strike a ground object in flight) what should be Protected Airspace, which shall be catastrophic for residents and passengers – and likely kill in the event of an accident, in excess of 100 persons⁴ because of the high velocity of such an impact into a very densely built up area. The Protected Airspace required under CAP 168 (of the relevant Procedures detailed above) is specifically designed to protect persons near or in an airport environment and to my knowledge there is no other Procedure in the UK where it is acceptable for CAP 168 to be violated. Some topography is also believed to puncture the required Protected Airspace.

It is a fact and published in AIP at:

http://www.nats-uk.ead-it.com/public/index.php?option=com_content&task=blogcategory&id=195&Itemid=281.html

that for some mysterious reason the Precision Approach Terrain Charts for Southend Airport are not even published yet they are for every other Precision Approach in the UK.. This I find suspicious. Could it be that the CAA are highly aware that the 06 Precision Approach procedures wholly violate the Obstacle clearance requirements of CAP 168 ?

It is a fact that there are (to my knowledge) no other (33 reviewed) ILS Approaches in the UK⁵ with a 3.5 degree glideslope (except London City⁶ where exceptional Aircraft and Flight Crew Licencing and Training Conditions are required to be complied with prior to use) let alone to a runway that is short and only 37 metres wide, which creates significant pilot workload and pressure, compared to other more shallow approaches to 45 metre wide and longer runways.

I have also reviewed the AIP document at:

⁴ Assuming Airbus 319 for example

⁵ I am aware of 34 that are at a 3 degree glideslope which is much safer.

⁶ 5.5 Degrees

http://www.nats-uk.ead-it.com/aip/typea/NATS_AIM_TypeA_Southend-EGMC_06-24.pdf and believe I would be right in saying that with 32 published obstacles including terrain – (I do not personally know of another airport in the UK with so many) this Airport is wholly unsuitable to have any Precision or Non Precision Approach Procedure for Runway 06.

Furthermore, from my own modelling research I believe that there are a total of 14⁷ violations (by way of puncture) of the Protected Airspace, where in fact under CAP 168 not a single one is permitted. I am happy to be proven wrong and if I am so shall as I say humbly apologise – but if I am not wrong the CAA has no option in law but to revoke the above Procedures.

Obvious low flying issues that endanger life.

A Section 106 Agreement with Southend Borough Council clause requires the Southend Airport Operator to pay for all roof damage caused to properties (due wake turbulence of aircraft) on final approach to Runway 06. Surely someone in the CAA should have worked out the aircraft on that Approach especially in poor weather conditions are way to low to residents houses - for that quite incredible clause to even exist ?

Has no one in the CAA asked where the flying roof tiles at speeds of in excess of 100mph are going to embed themselves ? Is it possible a young mother innocently going about her business pushing her toddler in a pushchair along an adjacent pavement could be stuck by the roof tile debris ? Did no – one in the CAA consider this prior to licencing the 3.5 degree glideslope for Runway 06 even for VFR conditions – let alone in IFR conditions ?

Some residents I understand have even been requested to remove their TV antennas – does that not give the CAA a hint that the aircraft are too low to residents homes ?

St Lawrence Church Violations of Instrument Strip

Furthermore as detailed in the same AIP Publication it states within "EGMC AD 2.20 — LOCAL TRAFFIC REGULATIONS"

4. Warnings

a. It is a condition of operating at the airport that the operator accepts that St. Lawrence Church and graveyard are permanent obstacles within the runway instrument strip and that they take account of them to the extent necessary to ensure a safe operation. Operators must refer to the airport conditions of use, and the pilot's briefing pack on the LSACL website.

Church roof is at 78 ft amsl at 94 m from runway centreline, spire at 114 ft amsl, 105 m from runway centre-line at approximately 200 m northeast of Runway 06 threshold, lighted with a single red obstacle light. Frangible fence around Church graveyard up to 9 ft agl (56 ft amsl), at closest 49 m from Runway centre-line. Operators should refer to obstacle data at AD2.10 and charts at AD2.24.

Those warnings alone clearly prove the CAA have violated it's own CAP168 and as such no Instrument Procedures should be undertaken upon Runway 06. The CAA have obviously actively sought to pass liability to third parties. The whole point and raison d'être of the Protected Airspace and Instrument Strips is to protect and save life of passengers upon aircraft and residents near an airport – the CAA cannot defer it's responsibilities and grant licences that violate it's own CAP 168.

Action Sought:

- i) Immediate suspension to potentially save life today, of the above detailed Procedures.
- ii) An investigation into the facts and data that I allege – I am happy to meet with your experts to assist.
- iii) Upon a swift conclusion to the investigation if I am right, to permanently revoke the use of the above Procedures at Southend Airport.

Public Interest:

This document is an open document to be immediately placed into the Public Domain so that the CAA is not able to sweep the issue under the carpet and if the CAA fails in it's duties from today and there is a fatal crash into residents of Southend then everyone shall know where to apportion blame.

I suggest the CAA do not embark on the folly of attempting to "shoot the messenger" – and the CAA concentrate it's efforts with haste on doing what it is supposed to do, which is to ensure innocent lives of passengers and residents are protected.

To: Rochford District Council/Southend Borough Council I write to Officially Complain about the extraordinary complexity of the JAAP process. The on-line form is far too complex for me and suspect most members of the public and has deterred me from participating in the consultation. The on-line form is far from clear and the description of the meaning of some of the boxes uses confusing language. The JAAP consultation has failed to use plain English and it's poor design has left me feeling excluded from the process.

My "Official Complaint "is Tuesday 23/4 04:53 awoken by jet engines over the airport direction -seems there is no warning or indication to this disturbance being expected other than the airport allowing this aircraft movement to take place with no consideration to residence. Do the airport want to comment on what they see as being fair and considerate to residence?

Statement to SAEN /
Airport

To SAEN , Please would you be so kind as to forward my "Official Complaints" to the airport on my behalf. To the Airport, I have requested Saen forward my complaints, as I strongly feel that an un biased independent outside body should be monitoring complaints. The on-line form is far too complex for me and suspect most members of the public and has deterred me from participating in the consultation. The on-line form is far from clear and the description of the meaning of some of the boxes uses confusing language. The JAAP consultation has failed to use plain English and it's poor design has left me feeling excluded from the process.

To the Councils

To: Rochford District Council / Southend Borough Council, I am in full agreement with the above complaint that echoes my sentiment in entirety,

To Secretary of State

To: Secretary of State, I wished to contribute and have my views included about the area I live in (the very reason for the consultation). I now feel alienated because of my lack understanding of wording and terminology used and therefore have been unable to contribute to the consultation that affects the area I live within and because of this I request a public inquiry .

To: Rochford District Council/Southend Borough Council I write to Officially Complain about the extraordinary complexity of the JAAP process. The on-line form is far too complex for me and suspect most members of the public and has deterred me from participating in the consultation. The on-line form is far from clear and the description of the meaning of some of the boxes uses confusing language. The JAAP consultation has failed to use plain English and it's poor design has left me feeling excluded from the process.

To the Councils

To:Rochford District Council / Southend Borough Council, I am in full agreement with the above complaint that echoes my sentiment in entirety,

To Secretary of State

To: Secretary of State, I wished to contribute and have my views included about the area I live in (the very reason for the consultation). I now feel alienated because of my lack understanding of wording and terminology used and therefore have been unable to contribute to the consultation that affects the area I live within and because of this I request a public inquiry .

I have submitted my form to object by mail but found it equally difficult to fill in and wonder if this was done on purpose to exclude large numbers of people.

To: Rochford District Council/Southend Borough Council I write to Officially Complain about the extraordinary complexity of the JAAP process. The on-line form is far too complex for me, far too long and time consuming for me to complete and, as I suspect, for most members of the public. This fact has deterred me from participating in the consultation. The on-line form is far from clear, the description of the meaning of some of the boxes uses confusing language. The JAAP consultation has failed to use plain English and it's poor design has left me feeling excluded from the process and unable to effectively object to the JAAP, and have my objections correctly and lawfully recognised.

To the Councils

To: Rochford District Council / Southend Borough Council, I am in full agreement with the above complaint that echoes my sentiment in entirety,

To Secretary of State

To: Secretary of State, I wished to contribute and have my views included about the area I live in (the very reason for the consultation). I now feel alienated because of my lack understanding of wording and the terminology used and therefore I have been unable to contribute to the consultation that affects the area in which I live. Because of this fact, I request a public inquiry .
